

South East Dental

We are aware that demand for NHS dentistry remains high and trust that you will be able to signpost patients to this additional provision. We also would like to share with you some messages to give to all dental patients which will help create realistic expectations.

- Practice capacity is significantly reduced due to extra infection control measures required during the pandemic to keep patients and staff safe.
- Non-urgent care has been paused, apart from those with the greatest clinical need, including for those that have a regular dentist.
- Practices don't have the capacity at the moment to take on new patients unless it is for urgent care.
- The best way to find closest practices is via nhs.uk website <https://www.nhs.uk/service-search/find-a-dentist>
- When patients ring a practice they shouldn't ask if they're taking on new patients as that may be interpreted as for non-urgent care. Instead they should advise they have an urgent need and have been advised all practices are providing urgent care at the current time.
- Patients will be assessed via phone in the first instance, the first part of urgent care is very likely to be remote advice, analgesia and antimicrobials (AAA) with the dentist using their clinical judgment whether face to face care is also required.
